

Book Week 2019

Book Week 2019 was held during Week 3 and involved a huge range of activities. Students were able to participate in small daily competitions, with some bigger competitions that ran across the week. Here's a wrap-up of the week.

Guess the Teacher Winners

Karda: Cody C (Room 4)

Kwilana: Nadine C (Room 13)

Koorlbardi: Ross P (Room 16)

Yonga: Carissa F (EC1A)

All winners received a $5 voucher to the book fair and all entries received faction points.

The Guess the Teacher competition was a huge hit with 270 students participating. Teachers had their photo taken with their favourite book, with their faces hidden, and students had to guess which book belonged to which staff member.

Mrs Dique, as Koala Lou, reading Koala Lou by Mem Fox to captivated students from Years 1 to 3.

The calm before the storm... Parents visiting Book Fair at Parent Night. The P&C sold over $3000 worth of books.

Book Week Incursion: Big Dreams

Students from Kindy to Year 6 enjoyed the performance by Perform! Educational Musicals titled "Big Dreams", which included some of the Children's Book Council award winning books.

Book Cover Quilt

Students from Pre-primary to Year 2 were offered an opportunity to recreate their favourite book cover. A winning entry was chosen from each year level as 3 runner-up prizes, and one overall winner was chosen.

Runner-ups

Ella C (Pre-primary)

Matthew L (Year 1)

Eve M (Year 2)

Overall Winner: River W (Room 4)

Story Time

Students from Rooms 16 and 17 visited the early childhood classes to read to the students. Everybody loved it, and staff have decided to do it more often!

Book Week Parade

Our celebrations culminated in the much-loved parade, with classes representing their chosen text. A huge acknowledgement to staff for the thought and planning that went into the parade, and to parents for the work behind the scenes in organising the costumes. Congratulations to Room 8, who were judged the overall winners for creativity and participation.
