EC2 & EC3 assembly

What a fabulous assembly from our pre-primary students. The way they got up and spoke so confidently was amazing. Well done to the fabulous staff in both classrooms for preparing the students and presenting a wonderful item. The song and dance moves were very impressive! I also enjoyed seeing so many parents back in the classrooms looking at all the learning that has been happening so far this year.

School Board

I would like to thank Miss Bettella and Ms de Burgh for attending the Board meeting on Monday evening to present our 2021 On Entry data. We also discussed our Attendance Guidelines and made some minor changes to ensure it reflects the Department of Education and Camboon Primary Schools' new target of; Increase the number of students who attend school 90% or more of the time. Please refer to further information on our website.

P&C

It was great to have a meeting on Monday night, however, it would be fabulous to have some more parents attend and help in making decisions. It doesn't always mean you will end up with another job! The more people we have involved the more we can do for our school and your children. The P&C is a vital aspect of our school and I would really like to encourage parents and other family members to join us. Come along and join the conversations.

50 Year Celebration

Camboon Primary first opened in 1971 and this year we celebrate 50 years,

To celebrate we are having a special event on Friday 12 November from 4.00pm to 8.00pm with lots of exciting activities, including entertainment, food and stalls. There will also be an official ceremony around 6.00pm. We are currently collating old photos and school memorabilia. If you know of anyone that could help with such items or information, please ask them to contact the school via email. If you are interested in planning for this event and being part of the celebrations, please email; camboonps50years@gmail.com

Note from the Chaplain

I have the privilege of meeting with the most amazing kids here at Camboon Primary School. I love what I do and I learn so much from your creative kids. One of the biggest conversations I have with students is around communication. We talk about the three essential ways we communicate and interact with others. How they use their words, tone and body language. We want our kids to be assertive, we want them to express themselves effectively not passively or aggressively. We do this by using "I" messages, defining boundaries and building their confidence. Few of us are born assertive, and the fear of seeming rude or selfish can prevent us from advocating for ourselves. Fortunately, with practice, we can help our kids master this powerful ability, and gain the benefits of assertive communication.

WHEN YOU ARE...	IT LOOKS LIKE	IT SOUNDS LIKE
PASSIVE 	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Lack of eye contact• Looking down• Not expressing your feelings or needs• Avoiding problems	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• "I'm okay with whatever you want."• "People don't think about my feelings."• "It's fine. I don't want to get anyone in trouble."
AGGRESSIVE 	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Eye rolling• Finger pointing• Angry or forceful words• Focused on your needs• Rude or bossy	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• "This is what we're doing."• "You can't play with me if you don't play this game."• Statements that begin with "You"
ASSERTIVE 	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Making eye contact• Calm but firm voice• Respecting your rights and the rights of others	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• "I don't want to play soccer. Do you want to play football instead?"• "I feel sad when you say I can't play." Statements that begin with "I"

2 DEFINE BOUNDARIES

 Discuss how there are boundaries in the world, or lines that should not be crossed.

 One way to respect these boundaries is by discussing the power of "no." Whether it's an unwanted hug from grandma or a bossy friend on the playground, kids need to hear that assertively saying "no" is not only acceptable--it's their right.

3 TEACH "I" MESSAGES

Here's a simple formula:
"I feel (insert feeling) when you (insert behavior). I would like you to (insert request)."
"I feel angry when you tell me I can't play. I would like you to let me join in."

Know that "I" messages work because they are non-judgmental. They neither blame nor criticize, and keep the listener from feeling attacked or defensive.

Kites Coffee + Connect

Safe space for families to connect.

Looking to connect with other families in the early childhood intervention space?

Come join us for a chat, a cuppa and some downtime - at no cost!

We believe much of the information that will be helpful to families is in the hands, heads, and hearts of other families like themselves. These mornings together will be supported by our social worker, Michelle, our psychologist, Kristie, and two Curtin social work students, Jaeley and Michaela.

Come down for a coffee and a chat in a safe space with other families who are experiencing the same things as you. You can share experiences, concerns, hiccups, successes, disasters, or just have a good laugh together.

These sessions will give you the opportunity to:

- Talk with people who understand what it is like to raise a child with developmental delay or disabilities
- Share stories in a safe and supportive environment
- Build relationships and establish support networks with other families
- Get information and learn about other community supports, allied health services and best options for your child and family
- Be empowered and inspired to take charge of your families journey.

Bring your children or come alone. All families of children with a developmental delay or disability below aged 18 are welcome. Fun activities will be available for children.

When: Thursday 10:30am - 12:00pm
(during school Terms)

Where: Kites Children's Therapy,
16 Sunbury Rd, Victoria Park 6100.
